DAYTON, Ohio, August 17, 1977 -- The University of Dayton's annual Library Lawn Art Show is set to go Saturday, August 27 and Sunday August 28 from 11 AM to 6 PM. The visual arts, drama and music will be featured on the University's library lawn.

Over 100 entries in the visual arts are expected in five different categories. A partial list includes oils, acrylics, watercolors, etchings, graphics, photographs, sculpture, woodcarvings, textiles, ceramics, enamels and jewelry.

There will also be a juried portion of the show in which four categories will be judged by members of UD's fine arts faculty for first, second, third and honorable mention ribbons. Entire displays will be judged for a best show award. The event is co-sponsored by the Dayton Society of Painters and Sculptors.

Drama and music featuring local artists will be offered every hour. "Save Me a Place at Forest Lawn" will be staged by the Dayton Play House. Dramatists Nancy Heath and Ann Hinkley will bring their play, "In a Woman's Soul." Musicians will include guitarists and vocalists such as Jim Horvath and Dawn Jameson. Ethnic dancers will also participate in the two-day show.

Oysters, bagels, corn-on-the-cob, bratwurst, yogurt and Lebanese food will be among the food offerings.

If it rains, the show will be moved to the UD Fieldhouse.
